SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER - APRIL 12, 2015 - SUNDAY OF DIVINE MERCY

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

During May every year, more than a thousand disabled and disadvantaged people from the US are brought to Lourdes by the nights of Malta. They travel to the south of France supported by volunteer helpers mainly Knights and their spouses, who cover the costs. In the group, as in Lourdes itself, priority is given to the needs of the disabled, ensuring they get the most out of the pilgrimage.

Celebrating Mass together daily, singing and playing music, sharing meals, lighting group candles, praying at the Lourdes Grotto and playing in the plain opposite the Grotto are all part of an experience of loving and caring Christian community. It's exhausting, but participants love it and are drawn back year after year. "It brings out the best in all of us," reflected one of the our own Bishop Paul who joined last year's annual pilgrimage.

In today's First Scripture Lesson from the Acts of the Apostles, we hear that the first-century followers of Jesus reorganised their lives under the influence of his Spirit, offering one another love and support as they faced their problems together. They made solidarity and mutual support a reality. We hear that no one in the early Christian communities was poor, because all those who owned land or houses sold them and presented the money to the apostles, who distributed it equally among those who needed help. They shared food gladly and generously. They were respected for testifying to the resurrection of Jesus.

The apostles tangibly changed people's lives, as Jesus had done. The presence of God's resurrection grace was expressed when the community provided for the needy people among them with their own resources. This gathering was not one of people with a well-developed doctrine, a complex hierarchical infrastructure, a newly printed hymnal, a dynamic well-trained choir, a magnificent "house of God", or a rotation of readers. They felt summoned to be channels for God's power, pragmatically changing lives. The Lord's resurrection convinced them to act with loving concern for each other.

How far is it true that an encounter with the risen Lord is more than a private experience? It is often an experience in fellowship with the community of believers. Christian communities with the Spirit of Jesus and "united, heart and soul" can help build a new society, marked by fairness, concern for those who are vulnerable, and justice and peace. Wherever there is mutual love, support and solidarity, there we will find something of God, of Jesus Christ and of the kingdom of heaven.

Through our outreach as a Parish Family to disabled people, and those who are elderly and vulnerable, we meet the risen Christ and feel the power of God's spirit among us. These encounters not only give us new life and hope, they change our lives. Some of us are inspired to take up the social justice teaching of the Church in a more serious way. There are plenty of examples of Christians engaging with the open wounds in society through work with homeless people, in soup kitchens and shelters, with those who are sick and dying in hospitals, among migrants and prisoners, in war zones and refugee camps. Just as the first Christians broke down social barriers and subverted normal social hierarchies of wealth and power, so the Church today supports campaigns for economic justice and peace. We can learn from the first Christians, who can inspire us to take up the social justice agenda of our Church. Glimpses of genuine community, generosity and human compassion are radical, powerful and joyful. They transform our lives.

May God always be pleased with us!

Monsignor Michael

Our Scripture Lessons remind us:

...that the Knights of Malta pilgrimage to Lourdes is an example of Christian community dedicated to serving the needs of disabled with a strong focus on joy and celebration;

...that the first followers of Jesus formed loving and caring communities, taking care to provide for poor and vulnerable members;

...and that Christian communities are marked by compassion, love and valuing those who are vulnerable.

May God always be pleased with us. Amen!

SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER - APRIL 12, 2015 - SUNDAY OF DIVINE MERCY

ST. ANN SCHOOL NEWS

Dear Friends of St. Ann School,

One of my favorite Easter songs is played at morning prayer. It is very upbeat and cheerful. It is even a bit jazzy as far as Church music goes. It features Mary Magdalene singing "Was It a Morning like This?"

This week is one in which I find myself humming that tune and praying that song. It is full of activity! There is nothing new about that but it is new and exciting for our students who are experiencing things for the first or second time rather than for the thirtieth or fiftieth time.

Little hands will be grabbing hold of Easter Eggs and opening up that colorful egg to find a special surprise. Spring clothes make us all feel freer and lighter. Our heavy coats and sweaters are packed away. Others will be handed over to charity to become someone else's treasure during our Clothing Drive.

Saturday's Tricky Tray will even allow the grown-up members of our school to let down their hair and have some fun. Baskets and food will be in abundance. Laughter and cheers of good fortune mark this very special fund raising event. (If you have not purchased a ticket, it is not too late to reserve your place.)

The second to the last report card is given giving everyone another chance to start again and the huge hope for the coming of summer vacation in a few months.

And so let us all catch the spirit. It was indeed a morning very much like this. It was the dawn of a new day like no other. Life sprang forth from the grave. The snow has passed to be replaced by green grass, blooming flowers, hopping bunnies, and singing birds. May your hearts join in the alleluias!

God bless you,

Sr. Mary Klersey, MPF
Principal
