EASTER SUNDAY - APRIL 5, 2015 - RESURRECTION OF THE LORD

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

Eva Schloss knew her future stepsister, Anne Frank, before the teenage girl died in Auschwitz concentration camp. As children, the two girls played together. After the war, Eva's mother married Anne's widowed father, Otto Frank. Both families had lost treasured family members in the Holocaust, like so many other Jewish families in that dark period of human history.

During a radio interview years later, Eva, a former concert pianist, explained how, on Saturday nights before their arrest, the whole family would lie on the floor, in the dark, listening to the exquisite music of Schubert's "Trout" Quintet as their "preparation for sleep". In decades to come, this music, and the memory of those unforgettable evenings, would still bring her joy. Despite having lost so much, she explained that what she would like to pass on to the world was the message enshrined in Louis Armstrong's song "What a Wonderful World". Instead of learning bitterness, Eva had learned to appreciate life and its immeasurable capacity for all that is good. In seeing the horrors of the death camps, she saw life and learned to value things that perhaps would remain unnoticed by those who had not faced the ultimate in human brutality. She finished her radio interview by repeatedly saying, "It's a wonderful world!"

Mary Magdalene believed that she had lost everything when Jesus died. St. John's Gospel tells us that, when Jesus died on Calvary, Mary Magdalene stood at the foot of the cross with Mary, the mother of Jesus, and John, the beloved disciple, as the dying Jesus entrusted his mother and John to each other. She witnessed at first hand the brutal death on the cross of one that she loved so much.

We do not know why it was that Mary Magdalene went to the tomb alone on Easter Sunday morning. Was it that she and the other women had agreed to meet there? Was it that she wanted to be alone for a while? Did she, perhaps, want to spare Jesus' mother the agony of seeing her son's body before it was completely prepared for burial? On the day of his death, those preparations had been interrupted by the onset of the Sabbath.

Mary's journey was solitary but also risky. Guards protected the tomb lest any of Jesus' disciples tried to remove his body. They were rough men; and she was a solitary woman. The soldiers might or might not allow her access. In those days, as now, in so many places, a woman had little status. Mary Magdalene was the first witness of the resurrection. Yet her unexpected news, so beyond the imagining of any of the apostles, had less credibility in the society of her day precisely because it was reported by a woman. St. Peter and St. John wanted to verify her story for themselves. It was only when they entered the tomb of Jesus that they realised the truth of the resurrection.

Jesus allowed women to be the heralds of the good news of the resurrection. Eva Schloss, an Auschwitz survivor, could proclaim that "It's a wonderful world" in spite of all she had seen and experienced. Mary Magdalene, an eyewitness to the horrors of Jesus' sufferings and death, also helped in his removal from the cross and the preparation of his body for burial. She witnessed his death but was considered less trustworthy when she tried to tell the apostles of the empty tomb. How did she feel when St. Peter and St. John ran to see the truth for themselves? What was her reaction when they returned to the Upper Room to report that the situation was exactly as she had said?

Eva Schloss discovered the meaning and beauty of life through the appalling suffering of Auschwitz. So too, Mary Magdalene and the apostles found that the death of Jesus would transform their own lives. Eva Schloss and Mary Magdalene both testified to a reality that others would find hard to believe. The resurrection is something far beyond normal expectations. Yet it is also an everyday event. We all know someone who has risen above hardship. Perhaps resurrection is part of my own life. Just as Calvary made Easter Sunday possible, so life's challenges can be the doorway to new hope and meaning. Easter Sunday, the day of resurrection, happens every day if we have the open eyes and heart to see it. Happy Easter!

May God always be pleased with us!

Monsignor Michael

Our Scripture Lessons remind us:

...that Eva Schloss learned to appreciate life after the horrors of Auschwitz;

...that Mary Magdalene was the first witness of the resurrection, but Peter and John wanted to verify her story for themselves;

...and that the resurrection of Jesus is also an everyday event; Easter Sunday happens daily if we have the open eyes and heart to see it.

May God always be pleased with us. Amen!

EASTER SUNDAY - APRIL 5, 2015 - RESURRECTION OF THE LORD

ST. ANN SCHOOL NEWS

Dear Friends of St. Ann School,

I often hear us bemoan the leaking roof, the parking lot, and the lack of funds. They seem to be an ever present topic of conversation. The good that occurs within these walls, the high performing students, dedicated expertise of the teachers, the hard working loyal faith-filled families do not seem to make the news. Yet they are the very news that should be proclaimed from the housetops. They go counter cultural to all that surrounds us. They are not following the crowd but are following Jesus Christ and His dream and desire for each of us.

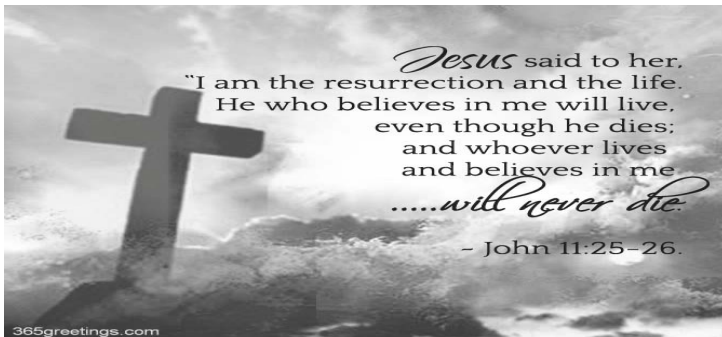

Today, Easter Sunday, we have a greatest good before us. How can we complain when faced with the awesomeness of our Lord and Savior truly risen from the dead. The roof, the parking lot, the funds will all come and go one way or another. But the one truth of this day will remain forever. This truth will impact us our entire lives, no matter what our age or condition in life. This truth overrides all and sets us up with a vision of the reality of eternity.

Because of Easter, the grass is greener, not on the other side of an invisible fence, but right here. The sky is bluer; the air is warmer; the world bursts into bloom right here where we are in Raritan, New Jersey.

Let us unite ourselves to the miracle around us. In surrendering we acknowledge that God is in charge. Let His will and desire be completed in us. I am confident that if each of us did this, the roof, parking lot, and the funding would be worries of the past. Our biggest concern would then be how to fit all the students and parishioners who wish to make our parish and school their own.

Happy Easter and God bless you,

Sr. Mary Klersey, MPF
Principal
