SPREADING THE WORD

"You shall not carve idols for yourselves in the shape of anything..." – Exodus 20:4

How many "gods" do you put before God? "Idols" do not always take the shape of physical things, things we can touch and feel. Those are easy to recognize. Many times they take the form of things we cannot touch and are much harder to spot - pride, power, ego, comfort or health.

MARCH 8, 2015 - THIRD SUNDAY OF LENT

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

In days gone by this was the time of year for spring-cleaning. Today we hear about the practice less and less. It may be that with modern detergents and cleaning tools we stay on top of the world of dirt all year round. We also have much better lighting. In the past the darkness of winter made it difficult to see where all the dirt was accumulating. In rural areas it would be the time of rain and mud, which would be constantly brought into the house and not seen clearly in oil or candle-light. In towns industrial smoke and grit would find their way indoors and decorate the crevices and tops of cupboards and windowsills.

If there is the same dirt around now it tends to be chemical by nature and less visible, so we don't see the same urgent need to clean as the stronger sunlight enables us to see the cobwebs and streaky patterns that appear as though from nowhere. Perhaps this seeming invisibility has made us lazier. Certainly modern technology means that we do not have to use as much elbow grease to get rid of dirt. When did you last see someone on his or her knees attacking a doorstep with a scrubbing brush? We have also lost that community sense of this being the time and the occasion when everyone makes a shared attack on the dark residue of winter to bring in the sparkling new world of spring.

St. John places his account of Jesus cleansing the Temple at the beginning of the public life of the Lord, whereas the other Gospel writers place it at the end, just before his passion. Their intentions are in fact similar. The synoptic writers offer the actions of Jesus as one of the final straws in his irritation of the authorities. Such an attack on Temple practices would be viewed as blasphemous by them and push them into arresting Jesus.

St. John is concerned throughout his Gospel to portray Jesus replacing the great symbols of Israel's past with his own person. What more central symbol was there in the people's belief than that of the Temple? Here was celebrated the very presence of God, originally in the form of the tablets of the Ten Commandments handed down to Moses as the expression of the Lord's covenant with his people. For St. John this replacement of the Temple by the person of the Lord Jesus will lead ultimately to his passion, death and resurrection, but he wants his readers to be aware of this transformation as they read the rest of the Gospel. As ever in St. John's Gospel the timing of the event is significant. It is just before Passover, the occasion in which the freedom of the people from slavery is celebrated. Jesus in his person will be the freedom of those who follow him; as St. Paul will point out, madness and foolishness to the Jews and Greeks, but for those who follow Christ the very power and wisdom of God.

Jesus wanted to make the point that the people had lost sight of the real meaning of the Temple. Treating it as a commercial marketplace, they no longer placed God's commandments at the center of their lives. As Jesus cleansed them of this abuse, however, he also pushed them to see himself as the new center of their relationship with God. It is through their allegiance to him that they will be renewed and really cleansed.

In this time of Lent we are asked to reflect on our own preoccupations and allegiances. Where is Christ in our lives? Do we have time for him or do we let our daily concerns and practices leave him little time or space? If our relationship with Christ is central, then the way we deal with the business of life will flow from that, and we will have a sense of peace and direction. If we try to work the other way round, bringing Christ into our lives as secondary or accidental assistance, we will find ourselves lost and confused. As St. John quotes the Lord Jesus elsewhere in his Gospel: "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life." A core element to our Lenten journey is getting rid of what stops Christ being at the center of our life and so uplifting us with the gift of his Spirit. Whether it is spring or autumn in our world, the need for new life remains the same.

May God always be pleased with us!

Monsignor Michael

Our Scripture Lessons remind us:

...that we don't "spring-clean" as much as we used to;

...that Jesus wanted to cleanse the Temple so that people would see more clearly what it stood for, and also become aware of how he had come to take its place;

...and that we are asked to let go of what gets in the way of Christ in our lives.

May God always be pleased with us. Amen!

MARCH 8, 2015 - THIRD SUNDAY OF LENT

ST. ANN SCHOOL NEWS

Dear Friends of St. Ann School,

It is not often that I find a well written commentary supporting Church and Catholic education. However, you must open the link of Clay Christensen on Religious Freedom <http://www.youtube.com/watch\_popup?v=YjntXYDPw44&sns=em> This is also posted on the Home Page of our Church website. Christensen is a Harvard professor who expresses beautifully why the United States of America runs as successful a democracy as it does. It boils down to a matter of faith. Faith is developed in the home and through the Church. Faith continues to develop through education. The key to keeping our democracy safe and our homeland the greatest nation in the world lies in the faith foundation Catholic education provides.

I realize that those who read this and listen to the YouTube clip are our current faithful. But I urge you to redouble your evangelization efforts. By your own good and faithful words and example invite and implore others to return to their faith. God's Kingdom will come. The quality of our lives and the lives of those around us will improve. Goodness will triumph to the extent that we allow it to operate in our neighborhoods and in our children.

Thank you for your faith and presence at Mass today. This is step one. Each progressive step gets easier.

God bless you,
Sr. Mary Klersey, MPF
Principal
